

denoising — the model turns random static into a wind field

pure noise

generated wind field

noising — training adds static to real wind data, step by step wind speed

slower faster

